ANGIE HAUG

A lifelong resident of Bucks County, Angie Haug has always possessed an entrepreneurial spirit. She would begin her career in advertising and digital marketing, where she cultivated the business instincts and leadership skills she would later need to excel as a REALTOR®. Twenty-three plus years into her real estate career Angie has achieved a ranking among the top 1% of agents in Bucks County.

Angie leads a team with Keller Williams Real Estate, where she guides clients throughout Bucks County and the surrounding areas. She has fostered a culture around the core values of integrity, openness and expertise, which allow her to meet the demands of any transaction - from residential real estate to luxury properties and farmland to name a few.

When listing a property, Angie and her team offer clients a comprehensive strategy. She coaches her sellers to prepare their home for the market, providing them with a suite of professional photography, copywriting and marketing services. She leverages her in-house social media expert to share her listings via a highly targeted blend of digital campaigns. Angie notes, “I center my workflow around the distinct needs of each property, ensuring a seamless transaction to fulfill my client’s best interests.”

Angie is just as attentive when working with buyers, drawing from her decades of experience to uncover the right property for their needs. The current competitive climate has motivated Angie and her team to pivot and revamp their strategies to continue to win properties for their buyer clients. “Buying or selling a home is one of the most stressful things a person can experience. I strive to put my clients at ease from the start,” she says. She thinks one of the best parts of being a Realtor is the variety of people she meets and forms lasting relationships with as she helps them achieve their homeownership goals and dreams.

Angie has earned a fantastic reputation throughout Bucks County, with the vast majority of her volume coming from repeat clients and referrals. Angie’s sales range from first-time homebuyers to having sold the highest priced residential property in Bucks County to date. She remains focused on the leading standards that earned her the Keller Williams Double Gold Award of Excellence in 2021. Angie was recently inducted into the Keller Williams Pioneer Circle of Agents who have been with the company for more than 15 years and have had a substantial influence on growing the success of Keller Williams.

Angie is deeply committed to the community, she and her team gain great satisfaction from helping with local food drives, coat drives, and other charity events throughout the year. When she is not with clients or giving back, she can be found relaxing on the beach, traveling or spending quality time with her family.

Looking to the future, Angie is expanding her team, developing forward-thinking marketing strategies, continuing to grow the luxury brand at Keller Williams and contributing to the growth of her Doylestown and New Hope offices.
